

Transform Your Team – 19th March 2018 - Daring Greatly “What’s worth doing even if I fail?”

#Monday Cricket Fact

“We want to make sure we make the most of the talent we are developing through our system. We are going to look to invest time on our players that we are developing through the system. A lot of our players look to leave our shores in the winter, and it’s something we encourage them to do. “

“We believe there are lots of opportunities for them to develop their cricket and come back as more rounded individuals. They get good experience playing in foreign conditions and also get match time. I’m a big believer in playing as much cricket as you can at a young age because you practice a lot on nets but one of the things we’re looking for is decision making.”

This simple question may help inspire us to try to accomplish

“What would you attempt to do if you knew you could not fail “Robert Schuller

our goals. Taking our fear out of the equation, so, what are your cricket dreams? The quote from Schuller helps us focus on our priorities or tune into what we may most for the club we all support. Of course, failure is possible, and the most worthwhile goals usually riskier, but keep in mind, too, that failure can be a good thing.

What’s worth doing even if I fail ? I love this question. It’s a type of problem that stops me in my tracks. It’s a twist on the classic issue “What would you attempt to do if you knew you could not fail,” In the sporting arena we will idolize success. But that kind of pressure creates significant stress. So, in my role working with the academy in Glamorgan CCC got me to thinking about the aspirations of this vital work. I am not the only one considering this subject of investing in the next generation, but how much do you know about the Glamorgan CCC Academy aims, objectives, and achievements. So, for the next few weeks, we will be looking at the Glamorgan CCC Academy aims, goals, performances and results.

Glamorgan CCC Academy philosophy is to not only produce exceptional young cricketers but outstanding young people. Role models Glamorgan CCC can be proud of on and off the field. We want players who are self-organising independent young players who can adapt to different cricket and environmental conditions.
