

Transform Your Team – 7th May 2018 - Cricket Landmark Changes

#Monday Cricket Fact

If you're a leader in just about any field, you're going to have people second-guessing you, tearing you down, and picking you apart. The more you succeed, the more critics you'll have. Dealing with criticism is a part of leadership. It's that simple. No matter how hard you try, you'll never be able to avoid all criticism—and you shouldn't! But learning to handle that criticism is incredibly crucial to your success as a leader.

While you cannot avoid all criticism, you can minimize some of it by leading thoughtfully and consider the following :

1. Build a positive culture
2. Create an avenue for helpful feedback
3. Lead with the "why" before the "what."
4. Be wise in how you live

1971	The first one day international	England play Australia in Melbourne
1979	World Series Cricket	A breakaway professional competition
1992	The first coloured clothing World Cup	Coloured clothing used at an ICC World Cup for the first time
1992	The Third Umpire	Third umpires are introduced to a make decision using TV replays
2003	T20 Cricket	The ECB introduces the 20 over competition
2008	The decision review system	DRS trialled for the first time in a test match between Sri Lanka and India
2015	Day-night Tests	The first-day-night Test played between Australia and New Zealand with a pink ball
2018 - 2020	Talks to introduce 100-ball format to a new competition	The England and Wales Cricket Board wants to introduce an innovative '100 balls' format into its new eight-team, city-based tournament. The concept could see innings consist of 15 traditional six-ball overs, and a final 10-ball over. That would be 20 balls shorter than traditional T20 matches. Those devising the competition believe a 100-ball 'countdown' would attract new audiences and be popular with broadcasters. The proposed approach was presented by the ECB to the chairmen and chief executives of the first-class counties and MCC on Thursday. ECB's chief executive officer Tom Harrison said: "This is a fresh and exciting idea which will appeal to a younger audience and attract new fans to the game." "The new competition's board unanimously supports the development of the 100-ball concept. https://www.bbc.co.uk/sport/cricket/43824037

Change, we live in a world of constant change it is all about how we as leaders introduce that change. Leading with the "why" disarms critics, educates bystanders and empowers advocates.
